

Grayling Homecoming July 14th to 21st, 1935

Crawford Avalanche

VOLUME FIFTY-SEVEN—NUMBER TWENTY-TWO

GRAYLING, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, JUNE 20, 1935

O. P. Schumann, Editor and Proprietor.

John J. Higgins Passed Away

John J. Higgins, of Frederic, 95 years of age, and the oldest settler of Crawford county, passed away at his home Friday evening. Although he was much advanced in years yet his health had been exceptionally good up to about three weeks ago. He had been in Grayling just previous to that time attending a divisional meeting of the Standard Oil Company, of which he was dealer at Frederic. For years Mr. Higgins and his son Harry operated a grocery business at Frederic and he had always taken an active part in the business.

Mr. Higgins was an honorable citizen. His friends were many and came from all parts of Michigan. It was always a pleasure to drop in and have a chat with him. To know him was to admire him and to love him. He was a grand citizen and one we shall miss greatly. He contributed much to the world and especially to this community during the long years of his active life. He was a friend to young and old and always kindly, and his acts of charity to needy persons were many and usually kept to himself. What a legacy to leave to posterity. He had to pass on to another world just as all men have to do but memories of this fine citizen will continue on for many years to come.

Mr. Higgins came to Crawford county in 1869 and that was when this section was a wilderness, and he came here to survey timber for the government. He could tell a lot about the early history of the county in which he had played an active part and could relate incident after incident of the early lumbering days, and one never tired hearing his stories. In the 1934 number of the Michigan History Magazine there is an interesting story told by Mr. Higgins and written by Carl A. Leech of Detroit, entitled "Lumbering Days."

Funeral services were held Monday morning at St. Leo's church, Frederic, Rev. Fr. Maloney officiating. Mrs. Marius Hanson and Joseph Cassidy rendered the mass hymns and the funeral was largely attended. Interment was in Frederic cemetery. Surviving the deceased besides his son Harry is a son Edwin of Lansing. From out of town there were Mr. Higgins of Lansing; Mr. and Mrs. John Lammiman, Mrs. Joseph White, Carrie and Ernest White, of Bay City. Former residents of Frederic, now residing in Grayling attending the last rites included Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Callahan, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Colten, Mrs. David White, Mrs. Alex LaGrow, Mrs. John Charlefour, Mrs. Leo Gannon, Mrs. Frank Sales.

Conservationists See Grayling Hatchery

Three hundred conservationists from 11 states are touring Michigan for the purpose of studying Michigan's conservation system. Last night they were in session at Johnson's Rustic tavern at Houghton Lake where a three-day session of the Central States Forestry congress was launched.

Today and Friday will be devoted to visiting concrete examples of the things the State does to conserve and replace its forest resources, and to protect them for future generations.

This afternoon the group is visiting Grayling Trout hatchery. Many men of high rank in Federal and State conservation work are in attendance at the meetings.

Sandwiched between congress sessions will be the annual meeting of the lake states conservation advisory committee, comprising Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin. The congress is composed of those three states and Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Missouri, Tennessee, West Virginia, and Ohio.

Cut Worms Are Damaging Crops

E. R. A. OFFICE TELLS OF FORMULA TO CONTROL PESTS

During the past couple of weeks there have been many reports of cut worms damaging crops, and many have been inquiring as to what could be used to control them. One party tells of having planted his small home garden three times and finally discovered that it was cut worms that was destroying it. This is only one case, and there are many others.

Thousands of them, big and little, may now be found in oat fields and later they will doubtless show up in corn, bean and potato fields.

Following is a formula that has come from the local ERA office:

Poisoned Bran Bait
Scatter in evening very thinly over infested fields, a poisoned bait made as follows:

Mix thoroughly 20 pounds of bran with one pound of Paris Green or white arsenic (not arsenate of lead). Wet this mixture with 2 quarts of blackstrap molasses in a gallon or more of water. Where a smaller quantity is required, the following formula may be used:

1/4 pound Paris Green or white arsenic
5 pounds bran
1 pint molasses
1 to 2 quarts of water as necessary.

Handle carefully as any other deadly poison. Take no chances!

The Annual Battle Is Raging

Gaylord ladies were guests of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Golf Club Wednesday afternoon. On account of the inclement weather the golf tournament that was to have been played in the morning was postponed until after luncheon.

At one o'clock luncheon was served to forty ladies, fifteen of whom were from Gaylord. This was followed by golf and bridge. In the golf game Gaylord won by two points. Mrs. Murray tied with Miss Betty Murray for low score, Miss Murray winning in the draw. Mrs. George Olson had the low score for Grayling.

Four tables were filled for bridge, the high score for the guests being held by Mrs. George Ford of Gaylord and by Mrs. Esbern Hanson for Grayling.

This was the first of the tournaments to be played with outside golfers this season. There are several others scheduled.

New Golf Coach Begins Duties Here

GRAYLING CLUB SIGNS R. O. COURTRIGHT FOR SEASON

Grayling golfers are fortunate indeed to secure the services of Coach R. O. Courtright, Varsity Golf coach and instructor in golf in the department of physical education at the University of Michigan. Mr. Courtright began his duties here last week.

Coach Courtright has coached at the University for the past eight years. Besides coaching golf he coaches the backfield for the football team, and the freshmen basketball team. He has taught both student and faculty classes in golf.

He and his family will occupy the George Olson cottage at Lake Margrethe. Besides himself and Mrs. Courtright there are two daughters—Jane, 12 years and Mary Ann, 8 years; and Billy, 13 years. Raymond Jr., an older son, works in Detroit and will not be with the family this summer.

Many well known golfers had their training under Mr. Courtright and golfing magazines speak highly of his ability to coach the game. As a player he shoots in the middle seventies.

He will organize classes in Grayling right away so those interested should get in touch with him at the Golf club, or phone 151. He hopes to have classes in Roscommon and Gaylord also.

The Annual School Meeting

All Week—Polly-Bergers' carnival.

Thursday evening our Drum & Bugle Corps went to the airport for an outside workout. Most all our drilling will be outside during the summer months.

On Monday evening the Corps marched up Peninsular Ave to the airport and drilled at that place and then marched and played on the way back. Those on the side lines say the boys are doing better all the time.

Our fireworks display has arrived in town for the Homecoming. This will be a real show and they will be displayed on Saturday night, July 20 at 11 o'clock so as to give the business places a chance to see it.

The Auxiliary will hold their social meeting at the cottage of Mrs. Leo Jorgenson next Tuesday night. Pot luck lunch.

On Tuesday evening the Drum & Bugle Corps had another one of their parties at the beautiful Johnson Rustic Dance Palace at Prudenville. Marv Herbert's 11-piece Olivet College Band furnished the music and we can say they have a wonderful orchestra and the music was very good.

But owing to the heavy rain and cool weather our attendance was very small. It sure does seem that whenever we put on a party the weather works against us. Some day we may get a date when the sun will shine. We wish to thank those who did attend or contributed to the cause, especially Mr. Frank Johnson, owner of the Rustic Palace for his efforts in helping the Legion Drum Corps. He surely has been very courteous and has done everything he could to make our two parties at that place a success.

Charles Wylie attended the Drum & Bugle Corps dance at the Rustic Tuesday evening. He came up from Olivet College, where he is in attendance, with Marv Herbert's College Band. "Chuck" said he had a good time. Good for you "Chuck," come again.

Graduation Exercises Largely Attended

It was a fine large class that marched into the assembly and down the center aisle of the school auditorium last Wednesday and Thursday nights when the annual Commencement exercises were held. There were large crowds out to greet the class each night and pay them honor for having completed their high school careers.

Class Night

Elizabeth Kraus, playing a piano solo Barcarolle-Offenbach very nicely opened the program and was followed by Jean Peterson, who as salutatorian gave her well prepared essay in a graceful manner.

Harvey Regan, president of the class welcomed parents and friends in a gracious manner, and his address was followed by a vocal number "Midsummer," sang by a double quartet composed of Beverly Schaible, Jean Peterson, Josephine Robarge, Clara Atkinson, Robert Sorenson, Donald Gothro, Sam Gust and LeRoy Millikin.

A history of the class read by Donald Gothro revealed a number of fine accomplishments by the class during its high school years.

Over telephone wires, with Clara Atkinson at one end of the line and Josephine Robarge at the other, in happy conversation, they told of the future of each member of the class much to the delight of the audience.

Another number "O Solo Mio" nicely rendered by the school orchestra, was followed by Eva Madsen, who did "Will and bequeath" many of the said "abilities" of the class to members of the other high school classes, causing a lot of merriment.

Donald Charron and DeAlton Griffith were just chuckling over when they took their places to present the giftatory, and the many "gifts" and sayings were certainly original.

Beverly Schaible in her unassuming manner gave the valedictory, paying tribute to the parents, faculty and others who made it possible for them to be members of the class of 1935.

We are grateful to Miss Beverly for the copy, which follows at the end of this article, and which we are pleased to print.

Following another number by the orchestra the class song, the words of which were written and the music composed by Clara Atkinson was sung by the entire class, making a fitting finale for class night.

Commencement
On Commencement night Dr. James King of Olivet College gave one of the most interesting of addresses, touching upon many phases of life, and giving the class many high-minded ideas to think about. It was plain to be seen that the class and audience alike enjoyed every word spoken by Dr. King.

Invocation was given by Rev. Hans Juhl and Mrs. Roy Milnes rendered two numbers very beautifully. Rev. Fr. Maloney gave the benediction.

Calling the class roll for the last time, Supt. Gerald Poor presented diplomas to the 28 graduates as follows:

Clara Atkinson, daughter of Mrs. Fred Tatro.
Eva Mae Bugby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bugby.
Arthur and Charles Corwin Jr., sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Corwin.

Robert Sorenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sorenson.

Reginald Sheehy, son of Mrs. M. J. Sheehy.
Simple decorations in black and white, the class colors, displaying the class motto "Ad Astra Per Aspera" (To the stars through difficulties) formed the background for the stage setting on Commencement night with a profusion of flowers tastefully arranged in the foreground. The members of the class were clad in their caps and gowns each wearing their chosen class flower, an American Beauty rose.

The Avalanche joins the many friends of the class of 1935 in extending congratulations and wishing them unbounded success along life's pathway.

Valedictory
Parents, Members of the Faculty, Friends:

Tonight the class of 1935 meets before you, perhaps for the last time. It would be useless to even try to express the emotions that fill our hearts. Happiness and sadness which are so much alike are probably the stronger. Happiness because we have completed four years work together and sadness because as we realize that we are bidding farewell to the school we have learned to love, to our many friends who have shared the same lessons and trials with us, and enjoyed the same pleasures, and to our teachers who have so painstakingly and patiently worked for us that we might be here tonight. To all of these we owe our gratitude, but lastly, and more largely, do we owe to our parents, who have made so many sacrifices to enable us to complete this work, our sincere thanks and appreciation for their help and understanding.

Thus as we look back over the past four happy years, we realize more forcefully than ever before that soon we shall be forgotten—that other students will take our place and that for the first and last time we are holding Class Day exercises as one united body.

But thru our regret and sorrow runs a feeling of excitement and curiosity as we accept the challenge and step out into whatever life holds for us, and in accepting this challenge and taking our places in the world we hope to make you proud of us.

So we, the Class of 1935, make way for the oncoming classes who will take our place, bid farewell to our friends and to Grayling High, and with a smile on our lips and determination in our hearts, face to the front and armed with the ability given us by our education seek new worlds to conquer.

EVERYTHING IS SET

The Democrats of Michigan need neither more over the question of whom they are to vote for for governor and other state officers; that's all been fixed for them by a coterie of bosses who met last week and selected candidates for all the offices that will be open for vote in a state and national way next year. Frank Murphy will be the man they must vote for as governor and so on down the list. Might just as well call off the primary and the state convention.

But, the interesting part of the story is leaking out and it says that the decree, so far as governor is concerned, came from Washington from President Roosevelt and James A. Farley. The story is that word came that the administration will look to Mr. Murphy to consolidate the forces behind him and place Michigan in the Democrat column so far as the national convention is concerned and also so far as Michigan politics is concerned Murphy will be the czar. It is emphasized that the potential patronage that will come if Roosevelt is re-elected will be Murphy's to do with as he pleases.

There has been considerable opposition in the Republican ranks to a few bosses dictating whom the party shall nominate for president but never has the congealing gone so far as to run down the line and pick out state candidates as well. Looks as if the so-called "Liberals" who bolted and went over to the Democrats because of bossism made a mistake in their landing. —Thos. Conlin in Crystal Falls Diamond Drill.

SENATOR HUEY LONG, the Louisiana Kingfish, made a tremendous effort to keep the senate from adopting the resolution extending the skeletonized NRA until next April, but failed. Advocating an amendment offered by Senator Gore, which would have required senate confirmation of all executive officials drawing more than $4,000 a year, thus disrupting the patronage machine, Huey started on a filibuster. For nearly 16 hours, with occasional help from Senators Schall and McCarren, he kept the upper house in session, pouring forth a continuous stream of discourse that ranged from the necessity of preserving the Constitution down to recipes for fried oysters and pot-lukker. He attacked the President and the administration generally, called the NRA "the national racketeers' association," told stories about his uncle, read from the Bible and Victor Hugo, stalked about the chamber waving his arms and croaking as his voice weakened, and now and then took a bite of cheese and a sup of cold coffee. All in all, Huey put on a show that kept not only the senators but a big crowd of visitors up all night. He was continually heckled by his angry fellow senators but always had a smashing retort.

At last the senate broke down the filibuster, rejected the Gore amendment and passed the extension resolution by a vote of 41 to 13. One change, to tighten up the antitrust laws, suggested by Borah, was made, so the resolution was sent back to the house for concurrence. In its final form it continues the recovery administration without codes but with authority for voluntary agreements among business men dealing only with collective bargaining, minimum wages, maximum hours, abolition of child labor and prohibition of trade practices outlawed by statute.

The house had previously adopted the resolution by a vote of 201 to 121, only a few Democrats standing with the Republicans against it.

Campaign Will End Saturday June 29

FINAL OUTCOME STILL IN DOUBT AS CAMPAIGN NEARS THE END

One of the closest and hardest-fought subscription drives in the experience of the manager of the campaign will draw to a close a week from Saturday night, when the Crawford Avalanche will give away a 1935 Chevrolet coach, or a cash prize of $490, a Sheldor refrigerator or a cash prize of $90, and two smaller cash bonuses.

DeVere Schmidt continued to lead the race this week, although he was tied on last week's cash report by Mrs. Laura Parker. Mrs. Stanley Flower, who represents the Mercy Hospital Aid, fell below these two and lost some of the advantage gained by the organization during the two weeks of intensive effort immediately after she entered; at one time during which she was actually in the lead for a short time. Reginald Sheehy, who was a member of the graduating class at the Grayling high school last week, had little time for soliciting last week and also fell behind the accomplishments of Mrs. Parker and DeVere Schmidt.

What the relative positions of the four workers will be this Saturday night—the last the reports are made directly to the campaign manager—is impossible to foretell, as all four of the campaigners expect to have big reports this week. After Saturday night, all cash collections will go into a sealed ballot box at the Grayling State Savings Bank, and no one, not even the campaign manager, will know what campaigners are accomplishing during the final week until the box is opened by the judges when the campaign ends at 9 o'clock in the evening of Saturday, June 29.

Details of arrangements for the sealed ballot box and for the closing of the campaign are included in an advertisement elsewhere in the Avalanche, and this information should be read carefully by every campaigner, and by every person who wants to help a friend to win.

The big difference between first and second prizes, four hundred dollars in the case of the cash awards and still more in case the merchandise awards are chosen, is spurring every worker on to the greatest possible efforts during the few closing days of the race. While everyone wins something, the winner of first place will get a prize so much more valuable than the rest that all four of the campaigners are bending every effort to climb to the top by June 29.

Every one of the four realizes that the remaining time is all too short, and each one plans to work from dawn till dark, and even after dark, gathering subscriptions during these final days.

The bargain subscription offer of a reduction of 25 cents a year in the price of the paper during the campaign positively will end at the conclusion of the campaign, so subscribers, too, are hurrying during these final days to take advantage of the offer to get their Back subscriptions paid up and even renewed for a year or more in advance, at the low rate.

The next few days will be exciting ones for everyone connected with the campaign. Campaigners—will you be the winner or the "also-rans" on June 29? Subscribers—will it be the lack of your subscription that keeps your friend from the top?

HOSPITAL NOTES

Those who have entered the hospital this last week are: Arlene Siwell, Gaylord; Floyd Russell, CCC 674; Mrs. Clifford Steinborg, Dayton, Ohio; Mrs. M. J. Christian, Cheboygan; Conrad Wehnes, Eldorado; Robert Chappel, Grayling.

Those who have been dismissed this past week are: Robert Ryan, Grayling; Brooks Epley, Grayling.

THE American Federation of Labor has more than any other group except the old brain trust bemoans the death of NRA, and its attorneys are busy drafting a bill designed to take its place in a measure. This measure proposes to put under federal license all concerns engaged in interstate commerce or handling goods destined for such commerce. Those companies would be exempted from the operations of the antitrust laws but would be required to agree to hours of labor and working conditions determined by a federal commission.

More June Brides

This has been a June of Junes for brides and added to our list for last week we have several more. Seems to be contagious among Grayling young people, for we hear there are others to follow. Congratulations and best wishes are extended to all.

Hunter-Gorman

At nine o'clock Saturday morning St. Mary's church was the scene of a pretty wedding ceremony that united in marriage Miss Eleanor Gorman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Gorman and Mr. Lawrence Hunter, son of L. D. Hunter, of Jackson. Rev. Fr. Maloney officiated.

Proceeding to the altar on the arm of her father, the bride was pretty in white embroidered organdy, trimmed in blue, with which she wore a light blue straw hat. Her shower bouquet was white roses and sweet peas. Miss Lillian Jordan, as bridesmaid, was becoming in white embroidered organdy and white hat and her bouquet was of pink roses and sweet peas. Both dresses were floor length. The bride was met at the altar by the groom who was attended by Farrell Gorman. Little Clayton Gorman served at the altar during the nuptial mass.

The church was very attractively decorated in blue and gold. As the wedding march was being played by Miss Ruth McNeven, the bride, wearing a very attractive pale blue gown, marched in on the arm of the groom who had ready to go into. The Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hendrickson, whose marriage was solemnized last week at Kalkaska.

The Rood triplets, Clyde, Clare and Cloya, children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rood, were broken up for the first time Friday evening, when Miss Cloya became the bride of George Low at a very pretty marriage service which took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. George Barber. Rev. F. J. Mills officiated and the bride and groom were attended by Mrs. Barber and the groom's brother, Leon, of Mio.

Following the ceremony a lovely wedding supper was served to twenty-three people, consisting of the immediate families. Mr. and Mrs. Low received many lovely gifts.

Those who attended from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield and grandsons, Leon Low and James Mansfield, of Mio.

LaForge-Henry

Miss Cecelia Henry of Roscommon and Mr. Clyde LaForge of Bay City were united in marriage by Rev. Fr. James Maloney at St. Mary's rectory, Friday evening. Following the ceremony a lovely wedding supper was enjoyed at Shoppenagons Inn.

Following a honeymoon of several weeks to Quebec and other Canadian points Dr. and Mrs. Steady will come to Grayling and will be at home to their friends at one of the Bates cottages at Lake Margrethe for the summer. IN THE "platform" adopted by the grass roots conference these governmental policies were advocated:

1. The immediate adoption of a policy of economy and thrift in government with due allowance for essential relief expenditures as opposed to the present spending policy of waste and extravagance.

2. The prompt attainment of a balanced budget, not by the misleading method of double bookkeeping, but by the honest method of bringing the expenses of the government within the limits of its income.

3. A sound currency based on gold and definitely stabilized by congress so that individual enterprise may have confidence in the future value of the dollar, in terms of which every man's plans for his present or future must necessarily be made.

4. The immediate withdrawal of government from competition with private industry.

5. The maintenance of the vitality and free growth of American industry through the preservation of the competitive system protected against monopoly by the vigorous enforcement of anti-trust laws, so that small businesses may be preserved and the door of equal opportunity kept open to all.

6. The rigid enforcement of all laws, civil and criminal, to prevent and punish dishonest or unfair practices in business, industry, and finance.

7. National recognition of the needs of agriculture. Agriculture is a fundamental industry of the United States.

8. Work for the workers. With men out of work, as now, the capital structure of the nation is not only being impaired but undermined.

9. The breaking down of arbitrary restrictions that throttle world commerce, such as quotas and exchange restrictions.

10. Continued protection to farm and home ownership, and continued provision, in co-operation with state and local governments, for those that are in need until private enterprise absorbs the present army of the unemployed.

Senator Robinson, majority leader of the senate, speaking before the Arkansas Pharmaceutical association, said of this:

"The only constructive suggestion made in addition to those which are embraced in the Roosevelt administration policies is the often repeated demand for the balancing of the budget. The budget cannot be immediately balanced unless the various forms of relief now being carried on be abandoned. This cannot be done just now without danger to millions of our people who have yet been unable to obtain employment."

The Statue of Freedom
The Statue of Freedom surmounting the Capitol at Washington is the work of Thomas Crawford, an American artist. The modeling was done in Rome, and at the time of his death, in 1857, he was endeavoring to secure the necessary funds for the casting of it at the Royal foundry at Munich. On April 19, 1858, the plaster model was shipped from Leghorn, Italy, to this country. The casting of the statue was by Clark Mills.

ECONOMY IN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION

One of the first questions interested persons ask when they are looking at electric refrigerators is "How much will it cost, to operate?" according to Thorvald Sorenson, of Sorensons Furniture Store, local Leonard dealers. It is a question which is hard to answer in actual estimated dollars and cents, but one which leads to one of the principal considerations which should govern the choice of an electric refrigerator, he says.

"Many factors enter into the picture when one is estimating the probable operating cost of any given electric refrigerator," Mr. Sorenson explained. "The local electric power rate, location of the refrigerator in the kitchen, amount of service it will be called upon to perform, number of ice freezings necessary—all these will have something to do with its cost.

"But when a comparison is made between different makes of electric refrigerators, it is an entirely different situation and the person considering the purchase of a refrigerator should make an effort to learn about some of the factors which go to make up this item of operating cost. Leonard engineers have concentrated for years on producing a refrigerator which will deliver the utmost in refrigeration at a minimum operating cost. This has meant the use of comparatively expensive insulating material to cut down the transference of heat from the outside into the food compartments. It has meant the design and production of oversized mechanical units with ample reserve power to meet the emergencies of the hottest days economically, instead of running constantly in an effort to keep up with temperatures. Leonard mechanical design as well as the construction of the Leonard cabinets reflect this aim of engineers to provide operating economy under conditions which would bring about a sharp rise in costs of less well designed and constructed units.

"We are glad to say that Leonard owners everywhere report their complete satisfaction over the operating economy of their refrigerators."

"How did the wedding come off?"

"Fine—until the minister asked the bride if she would obey her husband."

"What happened then?"

"She replied, 'Do you think I am crazy?' and the groom, who was in a sort of daze, replied, 'I do.'"

WASHINGTON swarmed with Shriners for a week, and they enjoyed themselves in their characteristic ways. Leonard P. Steuart of that city was advanced automatically to the position of Imperial potentate, and A. G. Arvid of Fargo, N. D., was given the coveted outer guard office, first step toward the top. The convocation of 1935 will be held in Seattle, opening July 14.

MAX BAKER lost the heavyweight championship of the world, being defeated by James J. Braddock at Long Island City in a 15-round battle. There were no knockdowns and neither man was badly punished, but the referee and judges unanimously decided that Braddock was the winner on points. Baer's chances were injured by a number of unintentional fouls.

TWO of the kidnapers of young George Weyerhaeuser of Tacoma—Harmon M. Waley and his wife Margaret—were arrested in Salt Lake City, where the woman was passing $20 bills that were part of the ransom money. A third member of the gang, William Mahan, an ex-convict, was being hunted in the vicinity of Butte, Mont., in which he was forced to abandon a stolen automobile that contained $15,000 of the sum paid for release of the boy. Waley and his wife, heavily ironed, were subjected to a grueling examination by government agents and confessed their part in the crime.

THE British government, it is believed, has accepted in principle the German demand for restoration of the German navy up to 35 per cent of the British strength. This is exceedingly irritating to France, and Premier Laval is likely to send a note to all signatories to the Washington treaty protesting against the revision of the multilateral treaties by bilateral agreements, and proposing a new naval conference, including Germany this time, to revise the Washington and London ratios all around.

Now is the time to show that you mean business if you have any desire at all to win the big prize. Make every minute count!

Only Two More Days of the Big Votes
Only Eight More Working Days in the Campaign

WORK NOW AND WIN---RELAX NOW AND REGRET

To the Campaigners

There are only two more days in which to secure BIG VOTES on subscriptions. Make these two days count as they have never counted before, if you would be declared the BIG WINNER. Get in touch with all your promises. Make every minute count. When the final count comes on June 29, be able to say, "I have done my best." All the world loves a winner, and YOU can be a big winner, if you try.

To the Public

Now is the time to help your favorite campaigner. Your subscription means more votes NOW than it will next week. AND VOTES WIN! Show your favorite campaigner what real friendship means by doing a kindness now while he or she needs it most. If you have promised your subscription, see that it is given before Saturday night. Or if you have not been solicited, look over the list of hard working campaigners, see them, or bring your subscription to this office and we will see that it is credited to the one of your choice.

Details of the Final Count

In order to maintain the strictest secrecy as to the number of subscriptions turned in by each campaigner during the last week of the campaign, the race will be brought to a close under a sealed ballot box. The box, locked and sealed, will be placed in the Grayling State Savings Bank, where it will remain until the close of the campaign at 9 p. m., Saturday, June 29.

At that hour—to the exact minute—the race will be declared closed; and immediately thereafter, or as soon as the judges can canvass the findings in the box, the winners will be named and the prizes awarded.

There will be no waiting—no complicated count—but simply a matter of adding the votes issued on subscriptions placed in the box by each subscriber to the total shown on the master ballot deposited for each campaigner showing credits earned in previous weeks.

Out-of-town friends who have subscriptions for their favorites should send them direct to the campaigner, advisably under special delivery stamp. No subscriptions received after the closing hour can be counted.

Subscriptions, with cash to cover them, may be placed in the ballot box at the bank by either campaigners or their friends. Care should be taken to see that both the name of the subscriber and that of the campaigner to whom credit is to be given are written clearly on the order.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

All subscriptions deposited in the ballot box must be accompanied by the full amount to cover, in the form of cash, certified check or post office money order, properly endorsed.

Personal checks up to $175 accepted, providing no two are signed by the same party.

All subscriptions must be deposited before the final hour. No subscriptions will be accepted for votes after that hour, which is 9:00 p. m. Saturday, June 29.

These rulings are made in fairness to all campaigners, and will be strictly adhered to.

It is the desire of this newspaper to close this campaign in a fair, honorable and impartial manner. Every precaution has been taken to safeguard the interest of the participants, and these precautions will continue to the end.

For this reason, a board of five judges will be selected—one chosen by each campaigner and one by this newspaper—to canvass the findings in the ballot box and to award the prizes, in strict accordance with the rules announced at the opening of the campaign. The names of these judges will be announced in next week's Avalanche.

Last Bargain Offer

The end of this subscription campaign June 29 will positively mark the end of the special bargain offer of Avalanche subscriptions at twenty-five cents a year under the regular price. After June 29 all subscriptions will be $1.75 a year in Crawford and Roscommon counties and $2.00 a year in the outside area. Now is your chance to get your arrearages paid up and your subscriptions paid in advance if you wish, at a real saving. You help yourself by helping some campaigner.

Remember

Saturday Night—The last of big credits on subscriptions.

Saturday Night—The time those who expect to win will have their biggest reports thus far.

Saturday Night—The night which may decide who will get the Chevrolet just one week from then.

Campaigners—Quitters never win, and winners never quit.

Subscribers—Don't turn your back on a friend!

Campaigners—Your friends will soon be asking, "Where did you finish?" What will you tell them?

BOYNE CITY GIRL WINNER IN BETTER HOUSING ESSAY CONTEST

Just three weeks ago Wilma Kirby, a senior at Boyne City High School, glanced out the classroom window and over Charlevoix Bay where a sailboat or two moved along at the will of a lazy breeze. The day, outside, was ideal; she had an essay to write. But she permitted herself a minute of daydreams. Travel! That was it. And Washington, with myriad sights and beauties! Her dream place.

Wilma put aside the daydream and went to work on the essay. It was about housing and the home and a part of the National Educational Better Housing Contest sponsored by the Federal Housing Administration.

The dream came true. Wilma arrived in Detroit Thursday night. She was the guest of Raymond M. Foley, state director of the Federal Housing Administration; L. F. Rogers, associate director, and Miss Muriel Bradley, state manager of the contest at a luncheon at the Book Cadillac Hotel. Then she broadcast and that night left for Washington, passing through the scenic country up to the Potomac.

For Wilma was not only the Michigan winner for girls but was one of the four girls selected out of the entire country to go to Washington and read her essay on June 15, National Better Housing Day. Four boys, the country over, received similar invitations.

First girl prize winner at Washington will receive $1,000 and a gold medal; second, $500 and a gold medal; third, $250 and a gold medal and fourth, $100 and a gold medal. Boy winners will receive similar prizes. The prizes were donated by the industries award committee interested in better housing.

Miss Kirby will appear in the national finals in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in Washington. She is assured of one of the prizes in addition to having all her expenses paid.

QUESTING YOUTH'S NEEDS

Fundamentally, the youth of today are just as idealistic, just as courageous, just as loyal as they ever were. What they need, though they are not always aware of that fact, is wise leadership, and one of the main causes of their unrest is that upon looking around the world they do not find enough of that type of leadership. If we of the older generation are wise, we will not waste time in deploring youth's spirit of adventure and change; we will sympathize with it, co-operate with it, and seek to guide it.—Walter D. Head, in the Rotarian Magazine.

"Little Stories for Bedtime" by Thornton W. Burgess

PETER GOSSIPS WITH HONKER

PETER RABBIT could hardly wait for the coming of the Black Shadows, and just as soon as they had crept out over the Green Meadows he started for the Big River. He knew just where to go. He knew that Honker and his friends would remain out in the middle of the Big River until the black shadows had made it quite safe for them to swim in. He reached the bank of the Big River just as sweet Mistress Moon was beginning to throw her silvery light over the Great World. At this point there was a sandy bar in the Big River and right where this sandy bar started out from the bank, Peter quitted.

"Hello, Peter," said he. "It is good to have an old friend greet me."

It seemed to him that he had not there half the night, but really it was only a short time, before he heard the low signal out in the Black Shadows which covered the middle of the Big River. It was the voice of Honker. Then Peter saw little silvery lines moving on the water, and presently a dozen great shapes appeared in the moon light. Slowly they drew near, Honker in the lead. They were a picture of perfect caution.

When they reached the sandy bar they remained quiet for some time, looking and listening. Then, sure that all was safe, Honker gave a low signal, and at once a low, contented gabbling began as the birds relaxed their watchfulness and came out on the sandy bar.

"Oh, Honker!" cried Peter. "I'm so glad you're back here safe and sound."

Honker gave a little start, but, instantly recognizing Peter, came close to him. As he stood there in the moonlight he was truly handsome. His throat and a large patch on each side of his head were white. The remainder of his head and his long slim neck were black. His short tail was also black. His back, wings, breast, and sides were a soft grayish brown. He was white around the base of his tail, and he also wore a white collar.

"Hello, Peter!" said he. "It is good to have an old friend greet me. I certainly am glad to be back safe and sound, for the hunters with terrible guns have been at almost every one of our resting places, and it is hard work to get enough to eat."

"Have you come far?" asked Peter.

"Very far, Peter, very far," replied Honker. "And we still have far to go."

"Will winter soon be here?" Peter asked eagerly.

"It is only a little way behind us," replied Honker. "We shall have to hurry lest it catch us, and that would never do."

GOVERNMENT BANK UNSUITED TO U.S.

Would Serve Politics Rather Than Business Needs, Says
R. S. Hecht, Citing Previous Experiences.

QUOTES PRESIDENT JACKSON

Extent and Diversity of This Country Presents Different Situation From Europe and Makes Regional Banking Necessary.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A refutation of arguments in favor of a government-owned central bank system for the United States is presented in a statement by R. S. Hecht, President of the American Bankers Association, on the basis of exhaustive studies of European central banks. He also points out the disastrous consequences of previous central bank experiments in America.

"Our present regional Federal Reserve System under private ownership is infinitely better for this country than would be a government-owned and controlled central bank," Mr. Hecht says. "If history teaches us anything, it is that it is almost certain that a central bank so owned would be run to meet the varying exigencies of the government in power rather than to serve the commercial needs of the country."

Central banking has been tried twice in the United States, but was finally abolished because the credit control which the central banks exercised became objectionable and unpopular, he goes on to say.

What Andrew Jackson Said

"The continued existence of the Second Bank finally became a bitter political issue and President Jackson succeeded in abolishing it," Mr. Hecht says. "Permit me to quote from his farewell address: 'The immense capital and peculiar privileges bestowed upon it enabled it to exercise despotic sway over the other banks in every part of the country. From its superior strength it could seriously injure, if not destroy, the business of any of them which might incur its resentment. . . . If you had not conquered, the government would have passed from the hands of the many to the hands of the few; and this organized money power, from its secret convulsions, would have dictated the choice of your highest officers. . . . The forms of your government might, for a time, have remained, but its living spirit would have departed from it.'"

When the Wilson Administration considered banking reform it carefully kept away from vesting central banking powers in a single institution and instead introduced the regional idea by creating twelve reserve banks located in different economic and geographical sections of the country. Mr. Hecht says, a plan that has worked exceedingly well because the separate banks are under the guidance of men chosen on account of their intimate acquaintance with the problems and needs of their respective territories. He adds: "The great size and diversity of America tends to make a central bank undesirable. The central banks of Europe such as the Banks of England, France and Germany, cover areas not as large as some of our states. A central bank in the United States on the other hand would be called upon to administer the financial policies of an area larger than all of Europe, in which there are quite a number of central banks."

Subservient to Popular Demands

"Moreover, history has proven that any banking system entirely owned and dominated by the government usually demonstrates much greater ability in aiding expansion of credit than in putting on the brakes at the right time to prevent undue inflation by restraining and contracting credit. This is easy to understand because in times of depression everyone is urging the government to make money and credit easy and to encourage expansion."

"On the other hand, it always has been and always will be a difficult task for any government to call a halt in time of apparent prosperity because in the very nature of things the government would be very sensitive to public criticism and would hesitate to take any action which would tend to curtail business activity. It is such undue susceptibility to popular demands which makes government a banking inherently weak."

"Our studies show that of all the central banks at present existing there are only four whose stock is owned by the government."

The American Bankers Association, Mr. Hecht says, is convinced that a central bank would not be in the interests of the public or the banks. Its position, he concludes, is "well understood by the President and the leaders in his Administration. For we have been absolutely frank with them in all of our discussions and have missed no opportunity for emphasizing that in our opinion no banking system will, in the long run, be sound if it is dominated entirely by the ever-changing political administrations. We should do all we can to keep our banking mechanism as far removed from political politics as possible."

EX-FOOTBALL PLAYER FINDS HOUSEWORK A HARD JOB

"NO TIME to do that! Why, you have all the time in the world. Nothing to do all day long, except a little thing like keeping house!"

How many women have been told that by their husbands! And how many have answered, "Just try it for a day and see if it's nothing!" without much apparent effect.

Well, one man has tried it. Being unemployed, he thought he would do his wife's little job of housework while resting. And now he wonders, and has voiced his wonder, how his wife ever stood it.

The man is Reuben Greene of Wauwatosa, Wis. Up to not so long ago, or all the time he was employed at his regular work, he was one of those husbands who thought his wife had nothing to do. House work, in his opinion, was just another kind of resting, another name for play or vacation. But he has changed his mind. This is what he wrote to a Chicago newspaper:

"The depression has done me a lot of good. Believe me, I always thought the women had a clench pushing a broom around and flipping a rag over the furniture. I was right guard on my college team in the days when a guy had to weigh 225 pounds to be considered a candidate, and I find it no cinch."

"How my little wife ever got away with that! Job! She must have a constitution like a turtle. Well, anyway, the depression has taught me to value and appreciate my wife. I've lost 35 pounds and know how to shake a wicked mop."

The Term "John Henry"

The term "John Henry" is slang, and has been in use for at least twenty years. It is in wide use among salesmen or solicitors who have substituted it for the older term, "John Hancock," meaning "signature." Probably the similarity of Henry to Hancock suggested the original humorous substitution. The older term arose from the prominence of Hancock's signature on the Declaration of Independence.

CHARLES WYLIE HONORED AT OLIVET

Olivet, June 4.—Charles Wylie, graduate of Grayling High school has attended Olivet College for three years. He was given the distinction by the official student publication last week as serving "an indispensable part in the new tutorial system of education," at Olivet.

As student manager of the Olivet Book Company Wylie was forced to drop a portion of his studies so that he could spend more time in getting the book department reorganized. He increased the sale of books threefold in four months. Almost 800 books were sold to the 210 students. Olivet's library purchased 750 new books. Professors and their wives bought 100.

None of the books sold were textbooks. Olivet, under its new system of education, has dropped classroom textbooks. Gail Welsh, another Grayling High School graduate, who is enrolled at Olivet as a freshman this year, entered with the first group to come under the Oxford teaching method, brought to Olivet by Joseph Brewer, graduate of Oxford University.

Next year the college book store plans to start a mail order library, to make books available to graduates of Olivet, and to those people in whose towns there are no public libraries.

Besides successfully organizing the book department Wylie originated the Sports Panorama program, which will be an annual college function. Faculty members appointed him campus Activity Director, and as such he has directed every one of the all-college social functions. In Blair Hall, the boys' dormitory, he acts as head monitor, cooperating with the house mother as assistant caretaker of the dormitory.

The Schnauzer

The standard for the schnauzer sometimes called the German terrier, demands a wiry salt-and-pepper-colored coat of an inch and a half length; a strong elongated head; medium-sized, oval dark eyes; clipped erect ears, straight forelegs, docked, erect tail, and paws like a cat, declares a dog fancier in the Washington Post. The dog stands from 15 1/2 to 19 1/2 inches high and weighs between 20 and 40 pounds. This is the description for the ideal type, there being a giant type and a miniature or toy type.

LOVE'S LAMPS

By ANNE CAMPBELL

MY LOVE that burned with just a single flame, A chaste white taper lit for you alone, In twenty years has spread itself to claim A dozen conflagrations for its own.

It warms itself upon our children's lips, And sends up signal fires our friends may see. They come to us with glowing fingertips, Warned 'neath the roof that shelters you and me.

Sometimes I think of those dear selfish days When you were all my world, my own blue sky; But now our children bless me with your gaze; A dozen lovely lamps are flaring high.

But like the constant star above the hill, My love for you is burning brightly still.

Camp News

Camp Higgins

The company's new mess hall has been staked out in an area to the southeast of other camp structures and far enough from them to reduce the fire hazard. There will be grading and installation of mats before actual construction work starts in the near future. In the meantime, without mess hall or tables, the company members are enjoying buffet lunches three times daily. A platform has been built for the kitchen, which is screened and covered with canvas.

Capt. G. E. Murphy was in Camp Custer the latter part of last week representing the sub-district commander at a meeting of Army officials called by Major Stark.

Several steps are being taken for camp beautification. Log walks are being constructed between barracks; a fountain built in the center of the court between the supply room and shower room; and four o'clocks are being planted at the edge of all lawn areas. As fast as possible the camp area is being sodded.

A new first aid class with an enrollment of 25 has been organized. Instruction is by Lieut. G. M. Katzman, sub-district surgeon.

A system of fire guards was instituted here last week. Each guard has a two-hour shift throughout the night until 6:30 a. m.

The radio class at this camp taught by Walter McDonald is now having code practice about three nights a week.

Camp Au Sable

(By Enrollee Coulter)

We were entertained last week by a very interesting and educational lecture based on white pine blight rust. Forester Nixon of the E. C. W. department gave the talk which he illustrated with a fine collection of lantern slides.

According to Mr. Nixon this disease is a plant parasite whose life cycle is from a currant bush to a white pine and thence back to the currant bush. It forms a cancer on the tree and eventually destroys the tree. On Monday night we heard an equally interesting lecture on barberry rust.

Mr. Nixon is a leader in the war on this disease. He has been working in the AuSable State Forest with a crew in an attempt to eradicate the plants which carry the parasite.

Says Milt Carmichael in the Detroit Legal Courier: "Only two weeks in Alaska, those government colonists from Michigan are clamoring for return trip."

tickets. No market for what they may raise and prices for what they buy very high. A government store charges them 10 cents for a penny cake of yeast and 25 cents per pound for sugar. Well, it was a fool experiment of some Brain Trust kid to say the least."

Camp Lunden

Maintenance on the one hundred miles of Truck Trail built by this camp during 1933 and 1934 is well under way, and before many days pass we expect to have these trails in excellent drivable condition and well worked up so that they present a good fire break as well as a serviceable road.

The project of improving the Cook Rearing Pond on Hunt Creek in Montmorency County was completed this week. Several hundred yards of silt were removed from the pond above the dam by the use of a drag line, thereby providing more and better water for use in the fish ponds below.

All rearing ponds were cleaned out and the banks faced with stone to prevent erosion and to present a neater appearance. Rustic foot bridges were built, trees and shrubs were set out and the whole place has a much improved appearance, both in beauty and efficiency.

Our part of a statewide project to remove all beaver dams over two years old from the trout streams of Michigan were completed this week. Some startling figures resulted from this work which are as follow:

Our crew of twelve men did work on thirty different trout streams in this area, removing one hundred and thirty-six dams, some of which were six or seven feet high.

The removal of these dams will speed up the flow of the water in these streams thereby keeping the temperature of the water down nearer the point where it is favorable for good trout habitation and growth, and will also clean off the gravel in the stream bed which is normally used by trout as spawning beds.

Even the Farmer Gets Air Conditioning

SOMEBODY is always giving the farmer a tractor with more comfort, more power, more traction. Low pressure tires started it all. Now come these Hula brothers of Medford, Okla., and steal the show at the national equipment displays at Wichita, Kan., with this "tractor of the future." It is air-conditioned, and is sound-proof to give good reception for its radio. Even a cigar lighter is included on the instrument panel.
